From the President's Desk

Dear Members,

It is great to see more members joining the Club and enjoying our friendly Club functions.

The String Hopper night on the 3rd of May was a sell-out. Egerton and his team gave us a fantastic night with catering by Brian Perera, music provided by the Cool Daddies and our very own DJ Dennis. The night was a roaring success.

To bring summer to a close, the Club presented the "Have a Chat—Afternoon Tea" which was an enjoyable and a splendid afternoon. The gathering of about eighty members and guests enjoyed the delicious short eats and very tasty cakes prepared by Cherrie Schokman. The slide show of Deanna and Karol's travels to South America was also enjoyed by all as was the 'Sing-along' music with Gwen on the piano. Deanna and her team gave us an afternoon to remember for a long time.

What's in the future? - The great 45th Anniversary Dance on the 2nd August 2014 at Enoggera. The band "Purple Rain" from Sri Lanka was engaged to play at this fantastic night but due to international bookings they were unable to visit Brisbane. However, do not be disappointed as we have engaged the well known and popular band 'Crystal Fire' lead by our affable musical maestro Laurensz Manricks. Gerard and his team are working very hard to present a fabulous and memorable evening with Surprises, Prizes, and a sumptuous menu to satisfy everyone's taste buds.

In the next few months some of the committee members will be on holidays. Egerton will be away overseas for two months from May visiting his daughter in England. Deanna will also be on holiday overseas in the month of June and Dennis will be visiting his mum in Melbourne, while I will be in Hospital for about four weeks. However I will be hanging on to my computer and will be able to answer your queries or inquiries and attend to important Club matters.

A couple of outings are being organised such as the bus trip to the Madhu Shrine at Marian Valley Canungra in July and a picnic BBQ in September. In addition, in the coming months we have sought the input of Bob Dobbs, Curator of the Roma Street Parklands, to publish a few articles on Plants and how they should be cared for.

We are also considering starting a Handyman Directory and would invite all Handymen to advertise in this publication for a small fee. This will be a Special section in the Newsletter. We believe this will help our members to easily hire Handymen to attend to small jobs around the home.

I look forward to seeing all of you at our next event which will be the Gala Anniversary Dance.

Till then, adios, my friends,
Warm regards,

Davenal

Have a good laugh aney !!

Ingrisi how telling Lanka

Everyday when papers looking, I am very sad,
They are telling in Sri Lanka, English very bad,
Is this all a humbug mister, sometimes very true,
So I want to tell and give you, exactly what to do.

Olden times when we were children, in the village school,
Pappa tole thuss learn the English, otherwise, you fool!!"
Those days teachers taking trouble, taught the English well,
If I do not do the homework, they playing the merry hell.

Nowadays have Shramadana, in the sun muss dig,
Other times too much torking, classes very big,
Principal is absent always, teachers putting part,
Boys are taking O Level, but only pass in art.

You must tell our Minister, soon to put a rule,
Give the English Education, nicely in the school,
Then the children will improve, learning very well you see,
Getting jobs and easy money, happy juss like me.

Now I am an English teacher, I can now enjoy,
So I am doing better job, than any other bouy,
I am engaged to Burgher lady, torking English well,
How to twist and do the Cha Cha, she is going to tell.

Pappa putting sarong only, simply village clerk,
Now I am putting trousers and walking in the park,
So I'm telling without English, useless you will be,
Like a Buffalo in the Village, married to a Tree.

"HAVE YOUR SAY"

Re—Have a Chat Afternoon Tea

Deanna,

Just wanted to thank you for the excellent slide presentation on South America at yesterday's afternoon tea. It provided a taste of each country visited and was delightful. We have only visited Mexico (although that was wonderful) and always wanted to go further south but never got an opportunity. It was a great afternoon, and I'm sorry Ed missed it.

As always with Silver Fawn Club events, the tea party was marvellous, with delicious and beautifully presented food as well as wonderful decorations. Even the colourful napkins/serviettes were tied with a ribbon, and there were fresh roses on the table. Of course, I skipped dinner in the evening entirely because I was so full with the delicate sandwiches (I had never had a 'ribbon sandwich'), wonderful "short eats" or "shorties" and the enchanting cupcakes, butter cake (mmmm), rainbow cake, and confections.

I had to leave early (during the songfest) so wasn't there for the thank you to all of those who contributed by making the delectable food, planning the event, providing the entertainment, and decorating the hall. But I would have wished to let everyone who contributed know what a special day it was.

It was great fun to spend the afternoon at the table with Heather and Alistair, Camille and Allie, and Jenny and Mike. We had a great time.

What a lot of hard work goes into all of the Club's events - and it is an incredible gift to everyone who attends.

Warm wishes to you and your husband.

Linda Conrad

To the Editor

One thing we Burghers are noted for is our extravagance when it come to hosting parties. Proof again at the Afternoon Tea Party on May 17th hosted by our Club and deliciously catered for by Cherrie Schokman.

At beautifully set tables. The food was served to us by willing helpers and our plates were spilling over with every remembered 'short eat'. I think I can safely say that just looking at our plates was an assault on the senses. Cherrie had left nothing out, even home made ginger beer, fruit punch and iced coffee. As you can imagine this took quite a while to savour and when you thought you had enough, delicious sweets were served. OMG! - Ribbon Cake, Butter Cake, Cup Cakes and all the other home made sweets. OMG again! Who could eat all that? But never fear help was at hand in the form of Romaine and her little bags for the inevitable 'Burgher Parcels'. Thanks Romaine.

Sated and relaxed we settled down to a beautiful slide presentation by Deanna & Karol of their holiday in South America. What an amazing experience. Thank you Deanna & Karol for giving us armchair travellers a wonderful trip.

*Unfortunately we had to leave early but I have no doubt the sing-along down memory lane led by Gwen at the piano would have been equally enjoyable as everything else. Well Done!

STRINGHOPPER NIGHT - 3RD MAY 2014

It was, without exaggeration, the BEST night after a long long time. Despite a few hiccups in the organising, when there is a good team to work with, things just fall into place. For starters, we were double booked by Enoggera Bowls Club and had to find an alternative venue. Then our resident DJ Ruvan "THE DARK'NTALL1" couldn't make it as he was posted to Darwin on emergency duties.

Well, it's true as they say "Every Dark Cloud has a Silver Lining" as we were fortunate enough to secure the wonderful services of the "COOL DADDIES" at short notice and the effervescent stand-in DJ - Dennis Arnolda. I must extend a big THANK YOU to the Anthonisz brothers and Dennis for their wonderful music. You guys rocked the night out as evidenced by the numbers on the dance floor.

And, what about the food? It was simply mouth-watering. The Stringhoppers were accompanied with Chicken curry, Pork curry, Potato hodthi, Seeni Sambal and Pol Sambal followed by delicious Watalappan for dessert. The feedback from the revellers said it all - DELICIOUS.

On another positive note, it was a BYO function. This meant families brought their own beverages which softened the blow on their wallets. In today's corporate world it is difficult to find a good venue where BYO is permitted.

Rarely do we have to say "NO" to our guests and I personally apologise to those relatives and friends who missed out on this fabulous night, but unfortunately the Mitchelton Hall can only accommodate 150 comfortably. There is always a next time.

I wish to extend a warm THANK YOU to Basheer, Yvonne, Lorraine, Ovil, Claude, Gamini and Isadore for all their help in decorating the Hall, Table arrangements and the clean-up thereafter and of course, who can forget the "Big Fella" Davenal for dragging his aching legs to give us a hand. Susan thanks for doing the Raffle envelopes and the Hamper and finally one cannot forget the two ladies, Deanna and Gaye, together with Shiran and Gamini for helping at the front Desk and the bubbly Beckie Misso.

It was a pleasure to work with you guys. The results speak volumes.

SEE YOU ALL AT THE NEXT FUNCTION.

Egerton

I wish to thank Deanna and her team for giving us an afternoon to be remembered. The treats presented by Cherie were delicious and enjoyed by all and Deanna's slide show was so enthralling. It was a wonderful afternoon—there should be more!

Well, a Girl Potato and Boy Potato had eyes for each other, and finally they got married, and had a little “sweet potato”, which they called 'Yam'. Of course, they wanted the best for Yam. When it was time, they told her about the facts of life. They warned her about going out and getting half-baked, so she wouldn't get accidentally mashed, and get a bad name for herself like 'Hot Potato'. Yam said not to worry, no Spud would get her into the sack and make a rotten potato out of her! But on the other hand she wouldn't stay home and become a Couch Potato either. She would eat properly so as not to be skinny like her Shoestring Cousins. When she went off to Europe, Mr And Mrs Potato told Yam to watch out for those hard-boiled guys from Ireland and the greasy guys from France called the French Fries, and when she went out west, she must watch out for the Indians so she wouldn't get scalloped.

They sent Yam to Idaho P.U. (that's Potato University). So that when she graduated she'd really be "in the Chips". But in spite of all they did for her, one-day Yam came home and announced she was going to marry Richie Benaud. "Richie Benaud!!!!", they cried. "You can't possibly marry Richie Benaud because he's just (go to page 11) >>>>>>

SPOTS. (The continuing story)

By Trevor LaBrooy.(2014)

Over the following two or three months, as he got bigger, it became obvious that at some stage in the near future, for his sake and mine, I would regretfully have to hand him over to someone more experienced and better able to care for him, as he approached adulthood. He was always most affectionate and would obey me when necessary, but at times, I could see that he was rebellious and his eyes would register a different look.

One weekend, I was in my bungalow office attending to some work when I heard a car arriving outside my garage and I wondered who could be paying me a visit. A short time later, I then heard a wild yell for help from the direction of my front yard and I rushed outside to see what the commotion was all about. My visitor turned out to be my good friend Dr. Balakrishnan, the local Medical Superintendent from the Koslanda Hospital and as he had been in the vicinity of my bungalow, he thought of paying me a visit. He had parked his car near the garage and then walked around to the front of my bungalow. Unbeknown to him and to me, Spots had quietly walked outside a slightly ajar front door and on seeing the doctor, who was a short, slightly rotund man, he walked up to him and rearing back on his hind legs, he placed both his front paws on the doctor's shoulders, just like he was used to doing to me, which in fact was a greeting. The poor doctor had happily walked around my house to meet me, totally forgetting that I had a pet leopard. On coming around a corner of the front flowerbed, to his absolute horror, he was confronted by a leopard, which then walked up to him, jumped up and put its front paws on his shoulders. This unexpected move caused him to fall over backwards, with the leopard standing over him, probably wondering what in heck was the problem with this screaming man!

I came out just in time, before the poor doctor had a heart attack and yelled out to Spots to "Get off him". Spots did immediately spring sideways and I rushed up to Bala and pulled him to his feet, consoling him as much as possible. The poor man must have had an almighty shock and I then yelled out to my servant to lock Spots up in my office room. All this time, Spots was standing nearby looking as bewildered as a leopard could possibly look, wondering what all the fuss was about. This little incident was the deciding factor for me to contact my friend Rodney Jonklaas, who was the Assistant Superintendent of the Zoological Gardens in Colombo and offer the Zoo a beautiful young leopard as a gift, which was gladly accepted.

Thus it was, I found myself driving down to Colombo, with Spots ensconced on the rear seat, just like any dog being taken anywhere. The chain around his neck enabled him to peer out in any direction, but I had to stop him from climbing onto me, which he would have done under any normal circumstance. We arrived at Ratnapura and I drove up to the Rest House, as the best place to have some lunch and to stretch my legs. Spots too would be relieved to have a little walk around.

I stopped my car as close to the steps as possible and beckoned to one of the waiters to approach me. The man's eyes opened wide when he got near the car and saw a leopard looking at him from the back seat. I then told the man to please get me a serving of some beef sandwiches and a cup of coffee and also requested him to bring me a container with some water in it for the leopard. This whole episode continued like a pantomime, with the waiter staring at the leopard and nodding his head to show me that he had understood my request. I then let Spots out of the car still on a leash and quietly walked him around on the lawn.

Within seconds, a small crowd had gathered at a respectful distance and it was almost comical to see the expressions on the faces of those watching, what to them must have been a most unusual sight. A short time later, the waiter appeared and from a safe distance, I requested him to put the food inside my car on the front seat and to place the container with the water for the leopard on the ground. I also asked him for an account and left the money and a handsome tip on the seat, asking him to collect it.

By now, the news had spread around that there was a leopard walking around with a man and the crowd swelled to a sizeable proportion. I put Spots into the car, waved to the crowd and started off on the balance of my journey to Colombo. I would have been really interested to hear what those in the crowd that witnessed this little episode said, but this was not to be.

On arriving in Colombo, I drove straight to the Dehiwala Zoo to Rod's house and was met by Rod himself. He told me that all necessary arrangements had been made for accommodating the animal and requested me to lead Spots and follow him. A few hundreds of yards away, we stopped at a large cage and Rod motioned for me to put Spots into it. I put both my arms around Spots and I have to admit that I was very teary at having to say goodbye to this pet that I had got to love. I knew that he would be well looked after and Rod said that he personally would befriend the animal, so that it would not experience too great a sense of loss when I departed. That was a very sad day for me.

HAVE-A-CHAT 'AFTERNOON TEA PARTY' – 17TH MAY 2014

Eighty persons responded to our invitation and were treated to a Have-a-Chat with a difference. Two large tables at the entrance set the theme and colour of the event. Individually decorated Cupcakes were placed on tiered stands, large blocks of Butter Cake, a jar of tiny Kisses, trays of Marshmallows, Fudge and two large Ribbon Birthday Cakes, one covered in pink icing and the other in green, shared the space with serviettes tied with ribbon. Small jars filled with white Babies Breath and Rose buds in shades of pink completed the look of a picture taken from a Vogue magazine. The use of Blush Pink and Mint Green in all the arrangements was most pleasing to the eye. On a nearby table homemade Ginger Beer on tap and a bowl of Punch were welcome thirst quenches.

Cherry Schokman with some help from Maurice and Carylle de Rozairo, Daphne Ephraims, Vicky White and Russ Douglas served an afternoon tea of Sri Lankan short eats that was gastronomically and visually delicious – way above the expectations of the convenor and the eating capacity of the guests. Three birthday 'girls', Becky Misso, Thomazine Fernando, Ruth Harris, mum to Thomazine visiting from Melbourne, cut the cakes to the words of Happy Birthday.

The Raffle brought in a pleasing sum of $ 250/- and prizes for 10 lucky persons.

Apart from two hampers, the rest came from several generous donations.

The Slide show on South America with brief commentary presented by Deanna, was well received as was the lovely piano accompaniment by Gwen Wijetunge for singing some of the old, well known songs of yesteryear.

A serving of Iced Coffee and sweets brought an enjoyable afternoon's entertainment to a close. Amidst the many accolades we did receive the usual isolated negative criticisms which the committee has noted.

Deanna.
